

Want a gentler liposuction?

Just add water.

Met the new secret weapon against unsightly pockets of fat: water. Body-Jet, also called water-assisted liposuction, offers a gentle, fast, and effective alternative to traditional liposuction. Body-Jet was approved by the FDA in 2008, and Gateway Aesthetic is one of the few select clinics in Utah to offer the procedure.

Tumescent liposuction with the Body-Jet system can provide superior results, and with less bruising and swelling than traditional tumescent liposuction. For traditional tumescent liposuction, a tiny opening is made in the skin and a narrow instrument called a cannula is inserted. The cannula delivers a dilute local anesthetic solution; once the solution sufficiently swells and firms the fat tissue, the fat is removed with a suction attached to the cannula.

During tumescent liposuction using the Body-Jet system, however, an anesthetic saline solution is gently sprayed through the targeted tissue, where it simultaneously dislodges and removes the fat. This eliminates the need for a separate suction step and greatly reduces the amount of bruising, swelling, and soreness the patient may experience. In addition, using the Body-Jet system can allow doctors to remove fat more accurately, providing superior aesthetic results.

Also, the Body-Jet system often takes less time than does traditional liposuction.

Almost any area of the body may be treated using the Body-jet system; the most popular areas are the abdomen, hips, thighs, knees, and arms. As with traditional tumescent liposuction, downtime is minimal—as little as a few hours to a few days. Physical exercise, however, is not recommended for at least a week.

Body-Jet can also be combined with the SmartLipo laser for both gentle fat removal and skin tightening.

Just as the ocean's waves sculpt the sandy beaches, the flow of Body-Jet will sculpt your body to help you achieve your ideal shape.
