

Eye-opening PROCEDURES

From Botox® to blepharoplasty, Gateway Aesthetic offers a variety of treatments to help perk up your eyes and improve your overall appearance.

You have probably heard it before: “The eyes are the window to the soul.” Your eyes may reveal who you are inside, but they can also reveal signs of aging or lack of sleep. If you want to look younger, fresher, and more awake, check out these options, and call Gateway Aesthetic for a consultation to find the perfect eye treatment for you.

Sagging eyelids

Many people suffer from sagging eyelids, usually because of genetics or aging. Most often, this is simply a cosmetic problem, but it may also impair vision. Everyone is familiar with the embarrassing situation when someone asks, “You sure look tired! Are you feeling all right?” when the person in question has had a perfectly sufficient amount of sleep. Fortunately, this situation doesn’t have to happen to you.

Blepharoplasty, or laser eyelid surgery, is the perfect solution for sagging eyelids, and it is becoming increasingly popular at Gateway Aesthetic and across the nation.

In the past, the majority of blepharoplasty surgeries were performed with a scalpel and scissors. Today, Gateway Aesthetic uses a pulsed laser to remove skin and fat, resulting in significantly less bleeding, bruising, post-treatment pain, and risk of scarring.

Blepharoplasty can be performed without hospitalization or general anesthesia. Local anesthesia and oral sedation are used instead, providing great results with less risk and less downtime. In addition to removing skin and fat, laser blepharoplasty also reduces wrinkles!

Dark circles under the eyes

Dark circles under the eyes, like sagging eyelids, may be the result of genetics or aging, but are often simply the result of insufficient sleep. No matter what the cause, Gateway Aesthetic has a variety of solutions. Common treatments for dark circles include laser vein treatment, laser resurfacing, and Fraxel Repair. You may also want to try Cosmion eye patches, which were developed by Gateway Aesthetic's Dr. Mark Taylor and are available for purchase through our clinic.

Tear troughs and bags

Both tear troughs and bags contribute to a tired-looking appearance. Tear troughs refer to the indentations that appear from the corner of your eye and across your cheek, where tears typically fall. Bags refer to puffiness below the eyes.

With these and other similar conditions, the best solution would be dermal fillers such as Restylane and Perlane. With a treatment of fillers, the skin can look smooth and refreshed. Fillers can also improve the appearance of hollow-looking eyes and even out other areas of the face.

Crow's feet and other fine lines

Crow's feet and other fine lines around the eyes are common, but they are easily solved by a variety of treatments. Treatments of Botox, Dysport, or dermal fillers can provide results quickly and with minimal downtime; procedures such as the chemical peel can provide extensive results with a week or so of downtime.
